System and GUI Testing:

1. Black-box testing:

Action	Expected Response	Actual Response as expected?
Select the 9 different sources one by one.	The 'Step 2: Choose Language' section should appear and in the dropdown list, display all the languages for that particular source.
Select Wikipedia as the source and English as the language.	The 'Step 3: Choose Date' section should appear and in the dropdown list, display all the dates the selection.
Select Wikimedia (for the source), English (for the language) and a date and click Search.	All the downloadable links should appear with a tick box on the left side of the links all aligned.
Select Wikisource (for the source), English (for the language) and a date and click Search. Then select: i) One link and click Download. ii) Five links and click download.	i) The one file should download. ii) Five files should download.
Select a source and a language and click Search.	Displays error message asking the user to select a date before clicking the Search button.
Select a source only and click Search.	Displays error message asking the user to select a language and a date before clicking the Search button.
Attempt to type manually a language (that is not in the dropdown list) in the dropdown list after selecting a source.	Cannot type into the language dropdown list.
Attempt to type manually a date (that is not in the dropdown list) in the dropdown list after selecting a source and a language.	Cannot type into the date dropdown list.

Use the website on a mobile device.	The website should be mobile compatible.	